NIGHT AND DAY

TWO MASTERWORKS BY BELA TARR AND HONG SANG-SOO FROM KIMSTIM / IFC Films

“Tilda Swinton is just one highlight of Béla Tarr’s mesmerizing film noir.”

—Jonathan Romney, The Independent

“Tarr evokes the beauty of cinematic form and the exhilaration of simply watching.”

— Peter Keough, Boston Phoenix

“Intriguingly subversive.... An arresting nightmare.”

— Peter Bradshaw, The Guardian

A lonely railway worker’s inner life is suddenly thrown into chaos after he stumbles upon a deadly business transaction that leaves him with a money-stuffed suitcase and a guilty conscious for a crime he didn’t commit. Another existential dazzler from one of cinema’s most stunning and austere filmmakers, Béla Tarr’s The Man From London is a breathtaking exploration of man’s indestructible desire for freedom and happiness. Stars the superb Academy Award-winning actress Tilda Swinton.

- Features Tilda Swinton ( Academy Award winner for Michael Clayton, Chronicles of Narnia, I Am Love)
- Béla Tarr is the master auteur of such cult masterpieces as The Turin Horse (Silver Bear and FIPRESCI Prize Winner, Berlinale 2011), Satantango and The Werckmeister Harmonies
- Based on the novel by Belgian mystery writer Georges Simenon, whose books have been adapted into such arthouse hits as Red Lights, Betty and Monsieur Hire

THE MAN FROM LONDON and NIGHT AND DAY Street 1/10/12 Prebook 11/29/11

“Unexpectedly charming! A convincing portrait of baffled masculinity and lost-boy lust.”

—Jeannette Catsoulis, New York Times

“Laugh-out-loud hilarious... one of the most acute depictions of male sexual desire.”

—Glenn Kenny, The Auteurs

“Few films more knowingly illustrate the lust and confusion of the male mind.”

—Kevin Lee, Slant

A married painter flees Seoul for Paris to escape arrest for smoking pot. Crashing in a dingy hostel run by a fellow Korean and unable to speak a lick of French, he finds himself wandering aimlessly around Paris, trapped in both his art and life. Eventually he stumbles into the emotional lives of two very different but beautiful Korean expats with surprising results. Sharp and deeply funny, Night and Day finds internationally acclaimed Korean director Hong Sang-soo working at the height of his powers and creating his most entertainingly Rohmer-esque film to date.

- Official Selection: 2008 New York and Berlin International Film Festivals
- Theatrical release in all major markets across the U.S.
- Director Hong Sang-soo is one of world cinema’s most acclaimed filmmakers (Woman Is the Future of Man, Woman on the Beach and Tale of Cinema)
